Allisonville Meadows Assisted Living Earns Deficiency-Free Annual Survey Score from Indiana State Department of Health

First annual survey for new community nets top rating

FISHERS, Ind. — Allisonville Meadows Assisted Living was found to have no deficiencies during its first annual inspection by the Indiana State Board of Health.

Opened by American Senior Communities on Aug. 1, 2013 at 10410 Allisonville Road in Fishers, this was the licensed residential community's first annual survey. The community also scored a deficiency-free rating in March during the initial survey. The ISDH inspects licensed facilities to assess compliance with state standards of care, such as adequacy of staffing, quality of care and cleanliness of facilities.

A deficiency-free score is the best score an assisted living facility can receive and is a distinction achieved by a low percentage of facilities in the state.

"Compassion, Attentiveness, Relationships and Excellence are the core values for American Senior Communities. These words not only form an acronym the spells care, they are guiding principles that lead us every day as we serve a very special generation," said Dan Benson, chief operating officer of American Senior Communities, which operates Allisonville Meadows Assisted Living.

“We are so proud of the staff for living out these values in an exceptional way. We congratulate the staff at Allisonville Meadows Assisted Living for their perfect survey from the Indiana State Department of Health. Without the staff’s high level of dedication and commitment, a deficiency-free survey would not be possible.”
