Meadow View Health and Rehabilitation Earns Deficiency-Free State Rating

SALEM, IN — Meadow View Health and Rehabilitation has no deficiencies, according to an inspection by the Indiana State Department of Health.

A deficiency-free score is the best score a senior health facility can receive and is a distinction achieved by a low percentage of facilities in the state.

The health department inspects all senior facilities to assess compliance with state standards of care, such as adequacy of staffing, quality of care and cleanliness of facilities.

Operated by American Senior Communities at 900 Anson Street in Salem, the community is a popular choice for seniors and others who need rehabilitation and care. Last year, the community received a near-deficiency free survey.

Compassion, attentiveness, relationships and excellence are the core values for American Senior Communities. These words not only form an acronym for C.A.R.E, they are guiding principles that lead us every day as we serve a very special generation, says executives of American Senior Communities.

“We are so proud of the staff for living out these values in an exceptional way. We congratulate the staff at Meadow View for the perfect survey from the Indiana State Department of Health,” said David Alexander, ASC’s vice president of operations. “Without the staff's high level of dedication and commitment, a deficiency-free survey would not be possible.”
